

Piquette Zero is a lively and delicious alcohol-free wine-style beverage. It offers a creative and unprecedented craft option to industrially dealcoholized wines that are so often stripped of their character.

Not identical to wine, this new sensory experience is to be discovered for its own unique deliciousness with zesty suggestions of bergamot, key lime, yuzu, blood orange peel, and lemon preserve.

How it's made

Instead of relying upon the forceful removal of alcohol, we tapped into the knowledge gained from making our artisan light wine refreshers: Piquette and Pink Piquette, which feature a naturally reduced alcohol content without compromising on quality or aromatics. With strong insights into the power of grape skins in providing the structure and aromatics in these low-alcohol wines, we applied these principles in making our new alcohol-free Piquette Zero.

Benjamin Bridge

Over two short decades, Benjamin Bridge has distinguished itself as Canada's premier sparkling wine house. In 1999, it all started as a labour of love with Nova Scotian entrepreneurs Gerry McConnell and the late Dara Gordon. Inspired by the early grape growers and winemakers in the region, Gerry and Dara invested in years of research to discover whether region-defining wines could be produced in the Gaspereau Valley.

Tasting notes

In the glass, a scintillating golden sapphire colour with a blond hue. The nose is vibrantly aromatic, with zesty suggestions of bergamot, key lime, yuzu, blood orange peel and lemon preserve. The palate is equally vivacious and channelling a citrus grove, yet combined with delicate fruit bitter undertones and the balancing texture of tart cherries. Not identical to wine, this new sensory experience is to be discovered for its own unique deliciousness.
